

Let's Talk About Our Community!

Sample Social Media Posts

Facebook

Parents can help their children develop strong language skills through everyday interactions. Check out this tip sheet from @2SmallToFail to learn more about things you can do every day at home and in the community to build your child's language skills: <https://bit.ly/2ApSTNt>

Children who develop strong social-emotional skills are able to build meaningful relationships in their community. Learn more about important ways you can support your child's social-emotional development with these resources from @2SmallToFail: <https://bit.ly/3cVglzq>

Twitter

Your little one learns meaningful language from their surroundings. Point to the traffic light as it changes and ask questions like, "What color is the light now?" and "What do you think a red light means?" #TalkingIsTeaching

Speaking multiple languages with your baby can make their brain develop new connections and prepare them for success in school and beyond. Read more about the benefits of being bilingual: <https://bit.ly/2ApSTNt>

When children feel like they are a part of a community, they feel a sense of belonging! You can ask your child, "What are some of your favorite areas in our community?" and "How can we be helpers in our community?" #TalkingIsTeaching

Instagram

Writing caring notes with your child can help them stay connected with their community! Your child can choose to write a caring note to a friend, family member, or teacher. Encourage your child to channel their creativity and fill the page with fun drawings!

Talking with your little one about the importance of community from an early age can help them develop important social skills and learn about the experiences of others. You can ask your little one, “Who are the people in your community?” and “How can we care for people in our community?” #TalkingIsTeaching